DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's Amendment filed 4/13/06 has been entered and carefully considered. Claims 1-3 have been amended, however, limitations of amended claims have not been found to be patentable over prior art of record and newly discovered prior art, therefore, claims 1-3 are rejected under the new ground rejection as set forth below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Claims 1-3 contain new subject matter such as "rigid", the original disclosure does not disclose the handle being rigid and one ordinary skill in the art cannot recognize through the drawings that the handle being made of rigid material.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Norton in view of Pesco (U.S. Pat. # 5,561,856).

With regard to claims 1-3, Norton discloses a massage glove being defined as treatment applicator which inherently can be used for applying a hair treatment to the hair comprising a handle (3, to call member (3) a handle is a matter of terminology because there is no further structure being described for the handle) having a longitudinal axis, a first head (5, see attachment A) being connected to the handle, a retaining structure (7) being connected to each of the first and second heads, wherein the retaining structure having a base (at 6) and a plurality of tines (8), the base facing in a direction substantially parallel to each of the heads and each of the plurality of tines extends perpendicular from the base (fig. 2), wherein the plurality of tines (8) of each of the head being disposed on the base such that each of the plurality of tines being comprised within a first row of two or more tines (see attachment A) aligned in a direction substantially parallel to the longitudinal axis of the handle and a second row (see attachment A) of two tines aligned in a direction substantially perpendicular to the longitudinal axis of the handle; each of the first and second heads being separated from each other by a separation volume (space between the two heads 5) and wherein the retaining structures hold tonic which is inherently can be used as a hair treatment.

Norton does not disclose the handle being formed of rigid material, however, Pesco disclose a glove (figs. 1 and 3) comprising a rigid insert (10) being inserted into the palm portion and the thumb portion of the glove to protect the thumb in the event of fall on the hand. It would have been obvious to one having an ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ the rigid insert as taught by Pesco into the device of Norton in order to protect the thumb of the user in case of falling on the hand.

Conclusion

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
